

08. Escape

At the next cross road Hans drive to the left, anybody knows that his job was very difficult. The others only need to take care of themselves, but Charles was inside his car and he have to take care, that nobody will see his passenger. "Charles, stays down there, and takes care, that nobody can see you." Charles sits on the ground of the car. "Can I do something else? Maybe you have some keys for these handcuffs?" He need to laugh, Hans had a lot of other problems so it was not important that his arms are free. Hans don't answer, he needs his full concentration for the traffic, and in the meantime he takes his mask away. A few minutes later he drive in a quiet street, there stand another car for them. This one was much better for Charles. He changes the car and Hans take the time do change the license numbers back to the original ones and he remove the special marks of this car. He hope that this will help to irritated the police. Hans goes to Charles, he don't here the siren of the police. "And how are you?" Is all OK with you?" "Yes I'm ok, but I will feel much better without these things here. You can believe me." Charles suggest to the handcuffs. Hans had hidden the mask and the overall, which he was wearing in the car. "Did you believe that I am a Greenhorn?" With a small smile he was looking for some keys. "Believe me, one of them is the right. Can you find the right one alone? I like to disappear from here, before we get some company." He put the key in one of Charles hands, and sit down behind of the wheel.

Ellis drives straight ahead. He was sure, that the police will follow Hans, but of course he needs to be careful. Selena was nervous and put her wig from her head. "Jesus, I was so scared." "I know Selena, but we need to bring him out of this situation. In a while you can take him into your arms. Hans find a way to bring him back to you." Ellis laid his hand on Selenas arms to calm her. He drove exactly the way Hans told him. Selena was happy as they found the other car. Both remove all the sign of the getaway car and changed the license number back, before they leave with the other car. "We need to keep calm now. Will you make it?" Selena hope so and nothing could happen from this moment. Another car, no more masks, what could be happen?

"Oh my God, had we done this really?" Julia was totally overtorqued through this action. "Quite Honey and take the masquerade away, you don't need that anymore." Billy was a little strained in this moment, but he need to smile. He tries to find the right way, but in this big city it wasn't very easy. Hans explained the way exactly to him, but he can't remember it. "Julia, did you have the gps with you?" Julia looked at him "No it is in the other car. Why you ask, have we any problems?" Billy sighs and takes the Walky Talky. "Heike, can you hear me? I need you help" "Where is the problem?" Heike was hoping to hear only that all is ok, but to this moment, she don't hear anything. "I think that I used the wrong way." It was a little nasty for him, but he has no idea to find the other car. "What is the name of the street?" "I'm standing at the cross Turmstreet and Wilsnackerstreet. Can you tell me the right way?" It was unbelievable. "Disappear from there, you've got the talent to dive ouch at the baddest places. At the next cross you drive to the right, I'm searching for you a new way, but first you need to leave this place." "Ok, but can you tell me please, what is so wrong at this place." Julia and Billy looked inquiring to each other. "Nothing, if we all ignore the little fact, that there is the court where they waiting for Charles." Billy need to absorb, he don't count with this answer.

„Ok, slowly again, what is at the left side?“ Billy can't believe, what Heike had told him at this moment. Julia looks to the court house. "This is not true. Damned what are we doing now?" Julia was scared and Billy can't say that he wasn't nervous. "The best, make no mistake", Heike was trying to keep quite. "At the next cross you drive left, so you have some distance between you and the court. And please Billy, take care of the traffic rules. I don't want to take you out of jail too." "Thank Heike, this can happen to everyone, please keep it for yourself." I will think about that, but first you look for a quite place and unmask the car. It some in this moment though the police radio, our friends had called for help. And I know that only you both are don't changed the car." "Heike, I think, we find the right place. We call you if we are ready."

Billy drove into a small street. Julia removes the buttons from the car and Billy change the license numbers back. They need to make fast and take care that nobody will see them. They put all into the trunk included the jacket of Julia and Billy's overall with the mask. Billy gave Julia a kiss. "Want you try to use the subway? I can do this alone." "Are you kidding me? Of course I stay with you. Can you drive or is it better if I do it?" Billy takes her in his arms: "Ok so we do it." They sit down in the car and Billy started it. "Ok Heike, we're back in the race. How are the others doing?"

Hans drive relaxed through the streets. He choose the main streets, this was faster and he was sure, that the police will checked fist the side roads. "Charles, are you clear with you little problem?" "Yes of course, thank you for asking. What is with the others?" Hans take in this moment the Walky Talky "Heike?" "Oh, who is there in the air?" Heike was happy to hear the voice of her husband. "Ok Honey, I had found something and coming home. I think it need not so long that I'm home. It will be great if you have a coffee for me." "You can have it, and please remember that this packet is very frail." Hans need to smile and look for a moment back to Charles. "I'm not sure, if I like to call a packet." But he was glad, that his friends had release him. He doesn't believe that they want to do this. "How is Selena? Did you believe, that Heike can call her for a moment? So I can talk with her?" "Heike, did you hear something from the others? Romeo had craving to his Julia." "Ok what you want to hear? No, this must be enough for the moment. So see you later .. and drive careful." Hans twitched his shoulders. "Charles, she told me that every time, I thought she learn to trust me. I believe that we're latest in 20 Minutes are home. Sorry, but you need to stay there for a while. You'll be faster with the lady of your heard as you think in this moment."

Ellis and Selena are ready to call Heike too. They observed, how the police called the application forces together. "The guards have got faster help as I thought. Then is goes off. Selena tell Heike and please remain quiet. Especially, if the police should stand beside us." Selena wasn't really happy. "Ellis I'm very nervous. I'm afraid, you can't understand this." She takes the Walky Talky. "Heike, it is me. It is all alright and we're on the way back. "Did you heard something from the others?" "Is all ok with you?" "Yes, all was like we want. Only that it looks that the police have any problems." Heike know what Selena means. "let they done, what they want and be careful. You need a coffee? Hans had ordered one." Now Selena can smile, this means that Hans had changed the car too. "yes Yes, a coffee will be a good idea. See you as fast as we can." Slowly she was relaxed. Hans will take care of Charles and bring him to a safe place. "What you think, how long we will need to drive?" "I don't know, but you will be early enough with him.

Heike was nervous, of course she was calm that Hans with Charles and Ellis with Selena all bring well behind them, but she worried about Billy and Julia. The beaten guard's hat already announces the escape and had requested for strengthening. The culprit's descriptions were still surely ventures and Heike had nobody recognised in this, but she knew, this could change. Now she had to look for Billy, he was in the directly danger zone.

"OK Heike, the masquerade of the car is finish and we know us if we look at each other." Julia was very strained, there was really too much police around them. She had a bad conscience, because she forgot the gps in the other car. "Ok Julia, be quite. You not so far away from the other car. OK, no panic at the Titanic, you know what I mean."

Billy needs in this moment the exactly way. "Heike please can you tell me, witch way I have to drive now? I want to leave this car and maybe you can understand me." Heike could understand him very well, but now they need very careful, much more as before. The police will be everywhere around in this area. "OK, I have an idea. You parks the car, and notice the exactly address. After that you take the sports bag and use the bus to come to you other car." Julia and Billy look at each other, they don't know if this idea will be so good, but Heike will appreciate this situation much better, as they could do it. "You had done all into the sports bag?" Billy looks to the Walky Talky in Julia's hand. "I am not an amateur, Heike. You're sure, that this will work? I mean, should they control special the trains and busses?" "Of course the do, but in this moment the are busy with the cars, so you don't have to lost to much time. Billy does what I told you, you need to trust me in this moment."

Billy knows that Heike was right. She was listening to the police radio and would know at the best, what's going on there. "We need to leave this car, I am right?" Julia looked after a good parking bay which one would also find again easily. "Yes of course, even we have changed a lot, it could betray us something. And I don't like the idea that we must answer to many questions." Billy, this one can be the right. We don't need a park light and it is thick at a crossroad. I have seen there a bus stop, so this will be great for us?" Billy parking the car, Julia was right, it was the ideal place for them. They got out and got the sports bag, now they had to hold back so unobtrusively as possible. Julia led him to the bus stop and they had luck that it comes very fast. Billy asks the driver whether he went past to the street und witch station it is. Now they are on the right way. He had switched of the Walky Talky for the moment, this could betray them now.

Ellis drove not very long, when he came to a police control. Now they had to keep the nerves, and nothing would happen. Good that they weren't in the getaway car. The police officer looked into the car: "Driving licence and the the car papers, please." Ellis and Selena looked at each other, what did he want? "Sorry, but I don't speak German, what would you want?" The officer, indicated that he should wait and got a colleague. At least, he talked English, and this was already a lot worth. Ellis followed to the request, and gave his papers to the man. Selena tried to be as quiet as she can, but she was surprised, that they need too much time. Hopefully they had scooped no suspicion. Ellis bet to her and whispered into her ear: "Stay quiet, it will be all alright, but issue the Walky Talky." The police officers had to believe that he had given her just a kiss. Mr. Dove? Have you rented this car?" "No, that is the car of a friend, we're visit her for a few days. Is something wrong?" The officer shook only his head: "Should you stay longer here in Germany, remember that you need to change the driving licence. I still wish a nice day." He returned the paper to him and Ellis could drive away. "I really thought, that we are going to be arrested." Selena could not believe, that they have come through this control. "Tell it Heike, the others must be warned. And ask her, what's happen with Billy. We know that Hans is on his way, but to me has just struck, that she has nothing said about Billy and Julia." "Your right." She took the Walky Talky "Heike, we think, that we don't need so long to be at home. I want to tell you, that we was this moment in a police control, but all is ok." Heike had counted on it and as she remember at these bad descriptions it was not a wonder, that they don't recognize Ellis and Selena. "Heike what is with Billy and Julia, is with both everything ok?" Heike does not believe, that it was a good idea, to tell them the truth. "Honey, we talk about this, with a cup of coffee in our hand. Now comes home. I'm sure that I can tell you then all you want to know." This answer should reach for now, in this moment she did not know what's happen with her problem kids. Billy had switched off the Walky Talky and he don't told, why he do this.

Hans drive into the garage, it was behind them. After the garage door was closed, Charles could also leave the car. Heike came to them and was very happy to see these both men. Charles looked searching around: "Where is Selena?" Hans looked at his wife: "You can do this much better as I." He had Charles not said, that Selena was involved in his escape. "I look in the meantime at the others. Where are they?" Heike looks at both men, "why we don't go to the computer room, I need to do something there, and in addition, there waits the fresh coffee of you." Heike went before both, take some clean cups from the board. "Where is Selena? Also in the danger, that I should replay myself."

"Heike, you are there ... please answer me!" Finally Billy! "Yes I am here, where are you now?" "Where you were, I try to reach you for a moment. OK, here it's swarming thus with the police, but you will don't believe it, we have reached the car. Keep the fingers crossed for us, that we come through. Julia is really very nervous, and I can understand her very well. Have you heard something from the others? Is our packet in order?" Hans and Charles was shocked, why Billy had changes so late the car? "Great. OK Billy, in this moment it should look good for you, but I can't promise to you, how long there remains so. I don't believe, that this will stay for a long time, that you descriptions come through the police radio. For the moment, it looks good. Hans had just delivered the packet and Ellis is on the way." "God thanks", it was to be heard, that Billy was happy to hear that. "Ok, we gave you from time to time an update. Keep the finger crossed for us. Oh and Heike, I will drive carefully and respect the traffic rules." You can hear how he laughed.

"Why so late?" Now Hans wanted to know exactly what's happen and with a cup of coffee Heike explained both what had happened. "My God, Billy was always a little bit chaotic, but this ..." Charles shook his head. "Ok but Ellis had made his changed good and has a traffic check behind him. I think both of them should be here in a few minutes, if they don't drive so hopeless wrong like others." Charles look at her: "Both?" Something came dawned to him. "Now you don't want to tell me, that Selena and Julia have also helped to release me?" Hans looked at Charles and his wife, she twitched her shoulders: "Have you believe, we could keep her here. I believe, she was good as an accident driver." Heike had a slightly ironic undertone and caught in to laugh. "Believe me if I had been able too, I would also have a part in this." "Your are crazy! I don't know, how I should owe you both."

Heike looked up: "Hans, I believe that somebody is coming." Hans had already got up to see, who was there. Charles was nervous, his friend could get in big difficulties, if one found him at this place. He wanted to say something, as Hans came back to the room and had a big smile for him. Directly behind him came Selena, she could hardly wait to take Charles in her arms. "Thus I would also like to be greeted." Ellis granted it to his partner, and was glad, that they had got all behind them. "Come to me, you hero!" Heike came up to Ellis and took him friendly in her arms. She could understand that this young man was tightened. Now they told both about the news and that they still had to wait for Billy and Julia.

"Heike, we can't stay here. I will bring you unnecessary danger." Charles was decided, but Hans calmed him. "Listen my friend. We have here a small nice place for you. You hide there, so long is necessary. Should somebody have the idea, than believe me ... nobody will find you. I swear." Selena interfered: "Charles, did you know what's happen outside? And they are first at the beginning. Hans ist right. In this moment the only sure place is here and I expect from you, that you are reasonable and stay with all of us here." What should Charles doing. "Will you stay with me in my hiding place?" He pressed Selena at him and gave her a kiss, in this moment she was all what count for him.